RANK QUITTER IS WHAT JOHN CORNWELL IS

Shows the White Feather in Refusing to Accept the Governor's Challenge.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM)
CHARLESTON, Oct. 5.—"Mr.
Cornwell has shown himself to be a rank quitter," said Governor George W. Atkinson before his departure for the southern part of the state, where he expects to deliver a number of political addresses this week. "In his refusal to accept Governor Hatfield's challenge he has shown the white feather, and there is no other conclusion to be reached than that he was afraid to repeat in public debate the charges he has been making while he has been on the stump as a candidate for governor."

Governor Atkinson stated that Mr.
Cornwell's refusal to make good and his backdown on Governor Hatfield's proposal would cost him many votes in the state, and that the fact which has been brought out by Governor Hatfield that Cornwell is riding around on a railroad pass while asking for the suffrage of the people will show him up in his true light as a representative of the special interests.

"While I am not so familiar with the state affairs now and the record of this administration as Governor Hatfield, I feel that I am prepared to meet Mr. Cornwell in a joint discussion on the issues of the campaign, both in the national and the state, and I would be very glad to meet him myself in any county in the state, even in his own county if he would agree to meet me in my own county.
The record of the Democratic party in the nation is so open to criticism that I would be glad to discuss it with Mr. Cornwell or any other Democratic speaker in joint debate."

MENDON, Mich., Oct. 5.—The vilpersons were without homes or extra clothing Thursday. Relief has been sent to Mendon from adjoining cities

The fire started in a meat market and quickly spread to other frame

TRAFFIC IS BLOCKED

Fire Breaks Out in the Wreckage and Two Men Are Burned to Death.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 5.—Two men were probably killed, an engineman was seriously scalded and more than a dozen mail clerks and passengers were more or less hurt early Thursday when the Mercantile express from Pittsburg to New York on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into a live stock train at the west end of the Low-istown yards. The tracks were blocked for more than four hours.

The passenger train was rushing through the yards when the tail lights of the stock train were seen directly in front, as it pulled through on a cross over. Engineman J. E. Stewart, of Tyrone, at once applied the emergency brakes but was unable to stop the train and crashed into the rear of the freight. The engine went over the bank carrying the engineman with it and two mail cars were derailed.

The freight train crumpled in and four cabin cars and three stock cars were strewn across the tracks, completely blocking traffic. Almost instantly fire broke out in the wreckage and while rescuers were taking the engineer from his crushed engine, where he had been seriously scalded, others were trying to extinguish the flames.

Many of the passengers assisted in the work when it was learned that Conductor Scott Eitelberger and a driver were missing and were believed to be burning up in the wreckage but their efforts availed little as the cars were quickly destroyed. No less than a dozen passengers had been injured when the train struck but none seriously. Injuries among the mail clerks also were slight.
